

COMMUNITY-RADIO

OCCUPY THE AIRWAVES

Community radio is transformative. It helps people connect, share local news, events & music, and participate in decisions that affect them. Radio is still the most common point of connection today.

Thanks to 10 years of effort to pass the Local Community Radio Act, groups will soon have the opportunity to start community radio stations in cities and towns across the country. We have a one-time chance this year to build long-term media infrastructure for our movements and communities.

Want to start a station? Can you spread the word? Have skills you can lend to the effort? Let us know!
